8. Essays

Choose any three of the five topics. Please respond in the space below the topic or attach additional pages for each essay with the topic clearly designated. Responses should be in essay format and should be between 500-1000 words.

Topic A: Explain what is wrong with the status quo.

Topic B: Democracy is often considered a panacea for all of society's ills, but more often than not it ends up emphasizing divisions in society and requiring individuals to band with each other in order to keep "them" from ruining society. What's more, even when democracies work, they tend to work extremely slowly. Dictatorships, when run by compassionate leaders, allow individuals to be true to themselves without fear of repercussions and are clearly more efficient. Even so, some political scientists discourage implementing dictatorships. Please choose one side in this debate and argue your case.

Topic C: Make a case for your membership in the GNU Public Dictatorship's Board of Dictators. Explain why you are essential to our success.

Topic D: While brads and other threats of the recent past have been relatively easy to avoid and simple to counteract, the Parent Corporation has become increasingly sophisticated in its methods. In spite of our successes, thousands of people are daily tricked into becoming slaves of nefarious office products. Please explain how you have been active in the fight against such slavery and how you would use your office (should you be chosen) to keep everyone safe from brads, hole punches, and other threats.

Topic E: If you were given a time machine that would work but once (no return trip) but could take you to any point in space and time past, present, or future, where would you go? How would your choice benefit the New Future?
